Clerkship and Internship Information for Hon. Loren L. AliKhan District of Columbia Court of Appeals

CLERKSHIPS

Judge AliKhan employs three law clerks to assist her in chambers. Clerkship terms are for one year and typically begin in late August or early September. The judge welcomes applicants with diverse backgrounds, employment experience before or after law school, and an interest in government service or public interest work.

Judge AliKhan accepts applications from law school graduates and third- and fourth-year law students on a rolling basis. She is no longer accepting applications for the 2024-25 term, but is accepting applications for 2025-26 and thereafter. Consistent with the Federal Law Clerk Hiring Plan, Judge AliKhan will not review applications from students who entered law school in 2022 until June 10, 2024. Second-year students may submit applications before spring grades are released, but should submit an updated application packet once a complete transcript is available.

Applicants should submit a single PDF containing a (1) cover letter, (2) resume, (3) law school transcript, (4) list of three references, and (5) writing sample. The application file should be sent via email to AliKhanClerkship@dcapeals.gov. Applicants should also arrange for three letters of recommendation, not written by their references, to be sent to the same email address.

INTERNSHIPS

Judge AliKhan accepts applications from law students and recent law graduates for unpaid judicial internships. Applications are reviewed on a rolling basis, with the following deadlines:

Fall 2023 semester internship:	July 14, 2023
Spring 2024 semester internship:	October 31, 2023
Summer 2024 internship:	February 29, 2024

Internship applicants should submit a single PDF containing a (1) cover letter, (2) resume, (3) law school transcript, (4) list of three references, and (5) writing sample. The application should be sent via email to AliKhanClerkship@dcapeals.gov.
